Carreras Postdoc Program
Empowering Future Leader to Fight Blood Cancers

CarrerasLeaders is a new innovative and international postdoctoral programme, designed and coordinated by the Josep Carreras Leukaemia Research Institute.

1

The aim of the programme is to fund 16 excellent postdoctoral researchers for a period of 3 years. During this period, the selected participants will join the institute's 41 Research groups or 8 research-performing Scientific Platforms and perform international secondments to academic and non-academic institutions. Call 3 of the program aims to select up to 6 postdoctoral fellows, following the successful recruitment of 10 fellows from Call 1 and Call 2.

2

This world-wide unique postdoctoral program covers the entire spectrum of research and innovation in blood cancers, going from understanding disease biology to the implementation of products and processes in the market and into the clinical practice through the development of a global translational approach. Applicants will have complete freedom of research choice within the scope of blood cancers.

3

Through training by experts, collaborative research, and a fast-horizontal transfer of knowledge, the research program of CarrerasLeaders holds the promise to advance on the many remaining unmet medical needs in haematological cancers and to participate in the delivery of new solutions. Josep Carreras Institute has designed a specific tailored training program promoting a new generation of lead researchers in this field.
